

International ADR Development Service: China

In July 2008, ADR Group was invited to host a delegation of leading Chinese judges and lawyers. The Chinese delegates were visiting the UK to gain a deeper understanding of the development of mediation in England and particularly the role of the judiciary in supporting ADR. Interest was also expressed in the role and function of the Civil Mediation Council and how this organisation was influencing the shape of the mediation community within the UK.

The visit was organised through the UK China Link.

Further discussions have been held regarding the delivery of specialist mediation training programmes and general dispute resolution skills for legal professionals and business leaders over the forthcoming years.

This project is in its conceptual stages and would be organised in close association with the UK China Link.
